LËTZEBUERGESCH CLAVIER

Luxembourgish, at every moment of your day

In the morning, a message to the family

The word appears before you finish typing it. Type “Schueb”, it suggests “Schueberfouer”.

Hands full, in the kitchen or in the parked car

Tap the mic and speak: your sentence writes itself in Luxembourgish.

A finger slips onto the wrong key

It catches the mistake: “Kafi” becomes “Kaffi”.

A word that escapes you

The dictionary gives it to you, in English or in Luxembourgish, even offline.

In the evening, five minutes of play

Every word you find becomes a card in your collection.

WHY

Why a Luxembourgish keyboard?

- Your phone “corrects” your Luxembourgish into German or French.
- ë and ä hide in an accent menu, word after word.
- You doubt your spelling in every message.
- You can say it, but not write it.
- This keyboard is made for you.

Inside: installation step by step, what it does for you, and how it helps you learn through play. Open the leaflet.

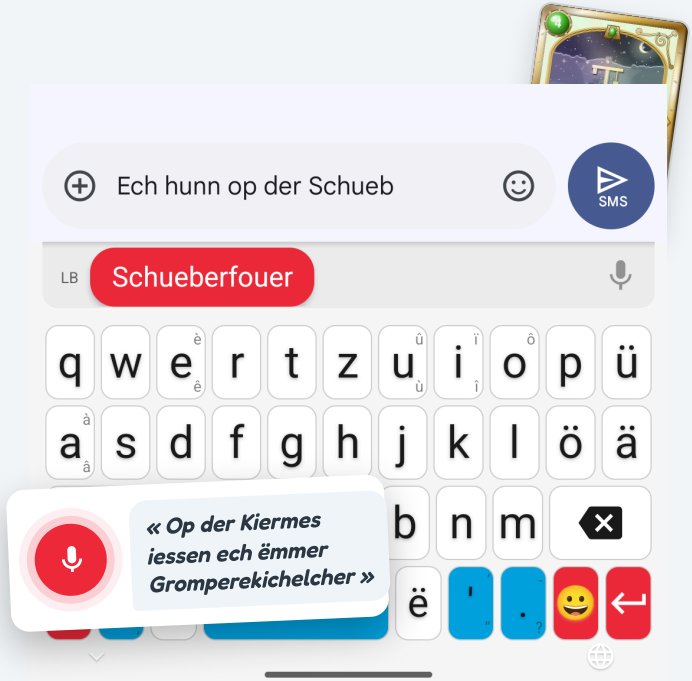

LËTZEBUERGESCH CLAVIER

LET'S GO

Setup in 4 steps

1 Open the Google Play page, it's free

Scan this code
Point your camera at it: the Google Play page opens, all that's left is to tap Install

2 Install the app

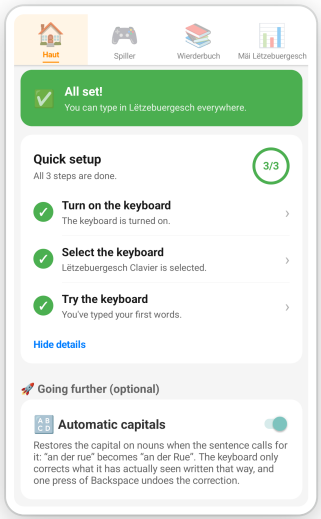

From Google Play, like any other app: installation and updates are automatic.

3 Turn the keyboard on in settings

A button in the app goes straight to the right Android screen. The system then shows a warning about typing: it is generic, Android shows it for every third-party keyboard, and this one sends nothing you type.

4 Pick it and write

The keyboard picker opens: choose Lëtzebuergesch Clavier and type your first word.

FEATURES
