LËTZEBUERGESCH CLAVIER

> “Mir wëlle bleiwe wat mir sinn.”

This keyboard's dictionary is not a fixed list: it is rebuilt with every release from two public corpora: LuxAlign, 180,342 sentences from the press, and LETZ, the example sentences of the Lëtzebuerger Online Dictionnaire. The language it suggests is the one people write, not that of a dictionary frozen once and for all.

Lëtzebuergesch Clavier is a citizen project published by Médhi Famibelle. No personal data is collected: what you type stays on the device. Only voice typing, when you tap the mic, sends your voice to the University of Luxembourg's LuxASR service, which transcribes it without keeping it.

WHY

Why a Luxembourgish keyboard?

- Your phone “corrects” your Luxembourgish into German or French.
- ë and ä hide in an accent menu, word after word.
- You doubt your spelling in every message.
- You can say it, but not write it.
- This keyboard is made for you.

Inside: accents at your fingertips, voice typing, words no longer underlined in red, seven games with their card deck, and eight levels. Turn the leaflet over.

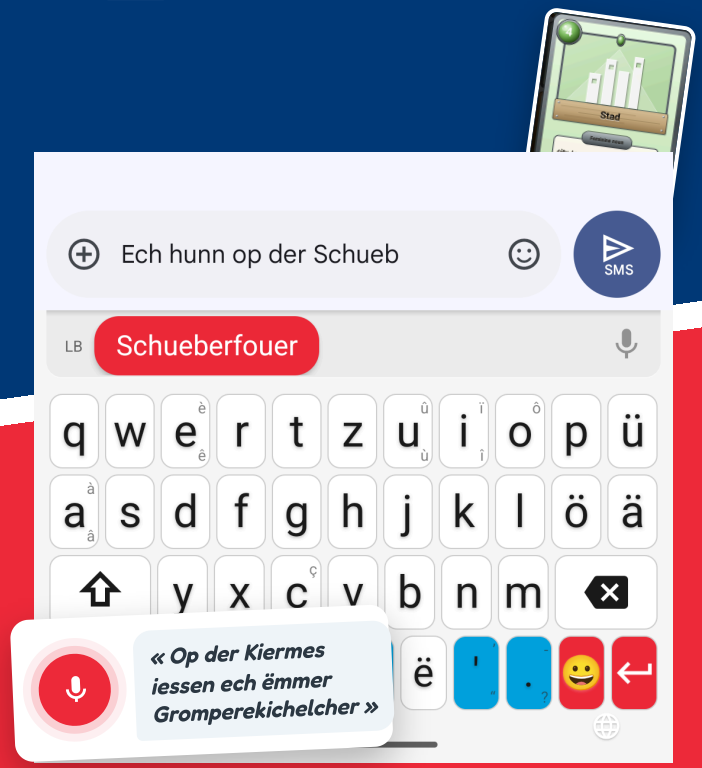

LËTZEBUERGESCH CLAVIER

You speak it. Now you can write it.

TYPE “SCHUEB” it suggests “Schueberfouer”

Ë · Ä · É each has its own key, no more hunting

SPEAK tap the mic, say your sentence, there it is

LET'S GO

Setup in 4 steps

1 Open the Google Play page, it's free

Scan this code
Point your camera at it: the Google Play page opens, all that's left is to tap Install

2 Install the app

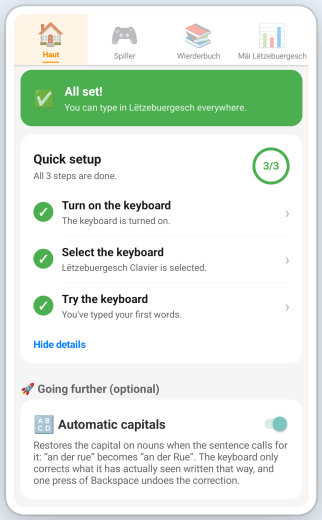

From Google Play, like any other app: installation and updates are automatic.

3 Turn the keyboard on in settings

A button in the app goes straight to the right Android screen. The system then shows a warning about typing: it is generic, Android shows it for every third-party keyboard, and this one sends nothing you type.

4 Pick it and write

The keyboard picker opens: choose Lëtzebuergesch Clavier and type your first word.

FEATURES

What it does for you

- The Luxembourgish word appears before you finish typing it
- é, ä, ë have their own keys; for other accents, hold your finger down
- It understands you without accents too: “letzebuergesch” suggests “Lëtzebuergesch”
- Your Luxembourgish words are no longer underlined in red, in any app
- Tap the mic and speak: it writes in Luxembourgish (internet connection needed)

It also guesses the next word: after “op der”, it already suggests “Stad”, “Police”, “Rue”. Fewer letters to type, fewer mistakes.

AND FOR LEARNING

Learn as you type

🎮 Seven games

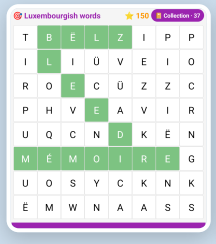

word search, anagrams, a word in six tries, fill-in-the-blanks, numbers, crosswords, word fill-ins.

🃏 A card deck

every word you win becomes a card, and the words you type move it forward.

📖 An EN ↔ LB dictionary

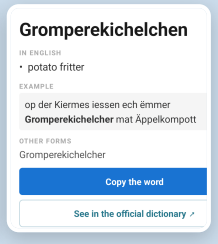

a word escapes you? It translates both ways, offline.
